

Becoming a N.E.W.S.® Organizational Coach

More and more organizations look to develop internal coaches. The internal capacity to coach employees and managers has become an important differentiator between companies. N.E.W.S.® offers the most structured and replicable process to develop internal organizational coaches.

You will benefit from our internal coaching certification when your organization looks to develop internal coaches that follow a common framework. When you want to measure the coaching process results and when your organizations want to deploy a structured replicable internal coaching methodology.

How it works

1

Preparation

Pre-assessment process for potential participants.

2

Face to Face Intervention

Two online webinars of 3 hours each.
5 days coaching development training based on the N.E.W.S.® Compass™.

3

Implementation

2 supervised coaching processes.

What can you expect?

Coaching methodology specially designed for leaders in organizations, easy to follow and implement. Measurable and structured yet personalized coaching process, that enable the creation of an organization-wide coaching methodology and language.

The coaching process is supported by a kit and pre and post online assessments and is integrated with the organization's strategy and real issues. They are measurable and easy to track. The development of real coaching culture and established supporting systems.